AWR-136 & MGT-384

Essentials of Community Cybersecurity & Community Preparedness for Cyber Incidents

April 3-4, 2018 • 8am—5pm each day

Heartland Preparedness Center - Rm 302

2808 N. New York - Wichita, KS 67219

AWR-136 is a 4-hour introduction to concepts related to community cybersecurity. Topics include types of cyber attacks, vulnerabilities to cyber attacks, and who may be targeted. Students will also be introduced to the Community Cyber Security Maturity Model and will learn how to use the model to build a community cybersecurity program, and increase cyber resilience.

MGT-384 is a 12-hour course designed to provide organizations and communities with strategies and process to increase cyber resilience. Students will analyze cyber threats and their potential impacts, evaluate the process for developing a cyber preparedness program, explore cyber related information sharing challenges and discover low to no cost resources to help build cyber resilience.
